Divested Business: Advanced Materials

As an integrated supplier of battery materials and technologies, our focus is on providing complete energy storage solutions. We're one of only a few companies in the world that serve the entire energy storage systems market, and we offer a comprehensive range of in-house capabilities and end-to-end services.

The cornerstone of our portable power business is EaglePicher Technologies, a leading provider of advanced batteries and battery materials. EaglePicher continues to provide a broad product line of technically differentiated, high-performance products and solutions to industry-leading corporations, just as it has for more than half a century.
